PERFORMANCE

Grade A Safety Glass

(AS/NZS2208) when toughened

Designed to last.

The beauty of the SpectraColour™ range extends way beyond looks – especially when used as a kitchen splashback. Robust and hardwearing, SpectraColour™ panels don't discolour due to heat, they don't stain, and they don't dent if knocked.

Pick a colour.
Any colour.

Our standard colour choices are a carefully curated selection of what's now, what's next and what works brilliantly with other modern finishes and textures – all grouped into three convenient categories: Brights, Neutrals and Metallics. If you don't find your perfect match among those, simply take advantage of our custom colour matching service, detailed on the opposite page.

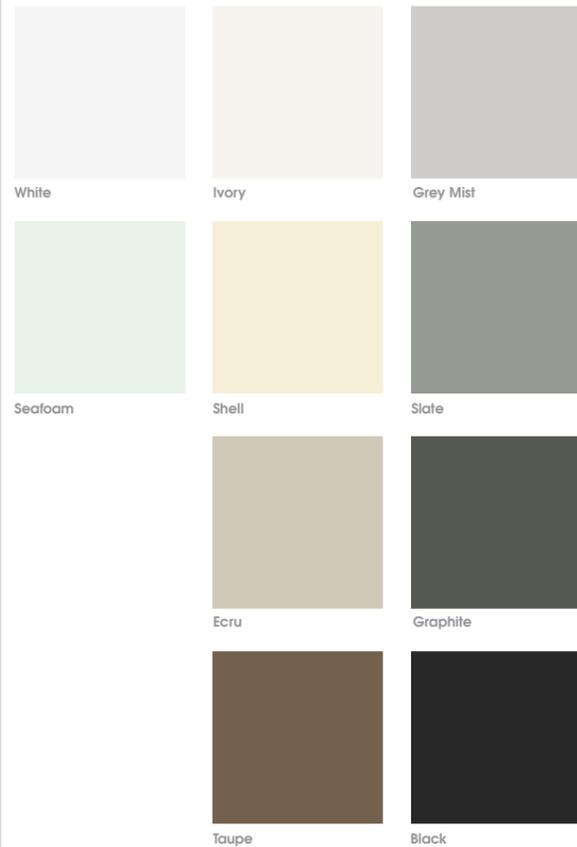

Easy installation.

SpectraColour™ panels are easily installed. The painted side is glazed to the building interior using standard fittings, framing and neutral cure silicone, and is a Grade A safety glass when toughened (AS/NZS2208).

Neutrals.

Ranging from soft to deeper greys, in a selection of warm and cool tones, the SpectraColour™ Neutrals provide an elegant textural counterpoint to a variety of natural textures and finishes, like stone, marble, concrete and timber. The understated sophistication of these colours ensures they can also be used to great effect as decorative interior panels within appropriately coordinated colour schemes.

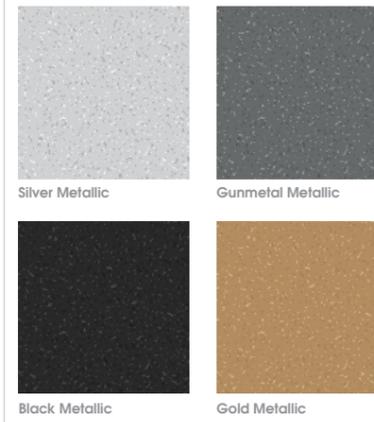

Brights.

The vibrant SpectraColour™ Brights are all about impact – particularly in the kitchen, bathroom and laundry – either as eye-catching, immensely practical feature panels, cleverly placed accents, or a combination of the two. Working best when contrasted against a predominantly neutral scheme of painted or laminated surfaces, the Brights enliven any space within which they appear.

Metallics.

Neutral in tone, but not effect, the unmistakable lustre of SpectraColour™ Metallics elevates its surrounds. Mirroring the ever-increasing popularity of the stainless steel and vitreous enamel appliances whose finishes they complement so brilliantly, the appeal of the Metallics' distinctive industrial sheen continues to grow.

Always at home.

The qualities that make SpectraColour™ panels ideal for the kitchen also make them suited to a variety of other domestic applications, such as internal wall panelling, wardrobe doors and walk-in robes. Commercial applications are equally broad, and include retail shop fit outs through to lift cladding, office partitioning, and furniture such as tabletops, desks, shelves and display cases.

Quick turnaround.

The SpectraColour™ range is manufactured in accordance with the relevant standards and Viridian processing guidelines, and is finished with high quality paint. To minimise production lead times, all 20 standard colours are held in stock at all times, and each order is processed and painted in the one location.

Limitless colour choice.

Can't find the exact colour you're searching for among our standard options? Look no further. SpectraColour™ decorative glass panels are available in an infinite range of colours. That's right, our custom matching service can match any sample you can provide.
